CHEAT'S WAY TO DIFFERENTIATE $y=\sin x$
$y=\sin x$

Filling in the gaps between these points we get the graph $y^{\prime}=\cos x$

As long as the scales are BOTH in RADIANS, we see that the gradient graph of $y=\sin x$ is of course $y^{\prime}=\cos x$

